

Family Violence in

Lucas County: Annual Update

These data describe some of the violence perpetrated by family members or caregivers in our county from 2007 to 2009 (the most recent available data). These figures cover only part of the prevalence of family violence, because many cases never come to the attention of authorities.

	2007	2008	2009	% change, 2007-08	% change, 2008-09
Petitions for domestic-violence-related civil protection orders	1,069	1,108	1,166	+3.6%	+5.2%
Adults sheltered in domestic violence shelters	283	351	308	+24.0%	-12.3%
Children sheltered in domestic violence shelters	219	277	193	+26.5%	-30.3%
Domestic disturbance calls reported by Toledo Police Dept.	3,216	3,478	1,745	+8.1%	-49.8%
Reports of abuse, neglect or exploitation filed for seniors in long term care facilities	120	162	139	+35.0%	-14.2%

-
- Most types of agency reports related to family violence have increased since 2007.
 - The large drop in domestic disturbance calls in 2009 was likely due to changes in reporting procedures.
 - For a detailed description of the sources and methods used to calculate these figures, please visit: www.hpio.net/familyviolence

This profile is part of an 88-county series provided by the Ohio Family Violence Prevention Project – a collaborative project of the Health Policy Institute of Ohio and the Ohio State University College of Public Health with support from the HealthPath Foundation of Ohio.

Suggested citation: Health Policy Institute of Ohio. Family Violence in [county name] County: Annual Update Columbus, OH: Health Policy Institute of Ohio; 2010.

Last year, how did we compare to other counties?

	Lucas County	Mean of 5 major metro counties	State mean
Petitions for domestic-violence-related civil protection order (per 10,000 adults)	35.3	28.8	26.3
Reports of abuse, neglect or exploitation in long term care facilities (per 100 resident beds)	2.8	2.7	2.3

- Lucas County had about the same rate of petitions for civil protection orders compared to similar counties in Ohio.
- Lucas County had about the same rate of reports of abuse, neglect or exploitation in LTC facilities compared to similar counties.
- Differences over time or across counties may be due to differences in the underlying scope of family violence, differences in agencies' capacity and/or differences in agencies' reporting procedures. For more information on how to interpret these findings, please visit www.hpio.net/familyviolence

To talk with someone about family violence, contact:

Child Abuse Hotline: 1-800-4-A-CHILD
Ohio Domestic Violence Network 1-800-934-9840
Ohio Area Agencies on Aging: 1-866-243-5678